

UPCOMING ISPD WEBINAR FOR NURSES

Dear ISPD nurses and allied health professionals

We are pleased to present you with the first ISPD webinar in 2023. For our first webinar ever focused on the needs of our nursing community, we have engaged our Nursing Liaison Committee to prepare the content, and all the speakers will be ISPD nurses.

ISPD WEBINAR

In collaboration with ISPD's
Nursing Liaison Committee

March 22, 2023 (Wednesday)
15h00 UTC

Peritoneal dialysis: Adapting the regime to the individual patient

Moderator:
Helen Hurst (UK)

Speaker:
Joanna Neumann (USA)

Speaker:
Grace Ngaruiya (Kenya)

Speaker:
Hanadi Mezher (Lebanon)

Speaker
Sally Punzalan (UK)

The webinar will focus on how PD can be adapted to the needs of different kinds of patients, and the important role nurses play in finding the best PD regime for each case. After an introductory session on PD prescription and how nurses are key actors in the process, the webinar will present three case studies with nurses from the UK, Lebanon, and Kenya, to present different approaches determined by patient needs but also the specific conditions of each geographical location.

The webinar will end with the opportunity for participants to ask questions to the four speakers, in order to create an interesting discussion.

Learning Objectives:

1. Introducing the basics of prescribing PD
2. Presenting different ways of prescribing PD through the work of nurses around the world
3. Introducing ISPD's new approach to increase nurse participation in our society activities

The webinar will be moderated by Helen Hurst (former chair of the ISPD Nursing Liaison Committee) and will have Joanna Neumann as the first speaker. The case studies will be presented by Grace Ngaruiya, Hanadi Mezher, and Sally Punzalan.

Wednesday, 22 March 2023 - 15h00 GMT
